A TRANSFORMATIVE WEEK FOR COHORT 7

From Sunday 28th September to Sunday 5th October, Fellows of Gold Cohort 7 gathered at the Akrofi-Christaller Institute for a week filled with learning, growth, and unforgettable experiences.

Throughout the camp, fellows engaged with our world-class faculty and gained fresh insights from inspiring leaders including Mr. Franklin Eleblu, CEO of IT Consortium, Mr. Michael Ajunam, CEO of Kex Construction, Rev. Albert Ocran, Head Pastor of ICGC The New Wine Temple, Mr. Finney Ongole, Program Manager at Development Associates International, Uganda, and Mr. Kwesi Oteng-Yeboah, International Director for Excellent Youth Outreach.

The experience extended beyond the classroom as fellows went on an educational trip to the Kwame Nkrumah Mausoleum and Osu Castle, exploring Ghana's leadership and historical heritage. We extend our appreciation to H.E. Ambassador Edward Kwasi Boateng, who sponsored tickets for fellows to watch a lesson-filled movie at the Silverbird Cinema.

We are grateful to all facilitators, speakers, partners, and BoE volunteers who made this camp truly impactful for Cohort 7.

GUEST SPEAKER SERIES

The session on "Executing Social Impact Projects," informed by the expertise of NGO leaders Akorfa Akoto and Ruthie Boateng, established that durable success is built on personnel, mission, and strategy. Prioritizing team building and community knowledge alongside finances, Fellows were tasked to think ambitiously, start modestly, plan meticulously, record achievements, and let purpose guide their local stakeholder-inclusive actions.

Former Zimbabwean Cabinet Minister Dr. Olivia Muchena led the session "Upholding The Pillar of Politics As a Christian". She asserted that political effectiveness requires a combination of Christian values and constitutional knowledge. A key lesson was that influence is a form of active leadership. The experience of Dr. Muchena is discussed in this video In Conversation with Dr Olivia Muchena.

The Economy, Explained in One Page

“Have you seen One Page Economics? It’s a blog that breaks down Ghana’s economic headlines into clear, relatable insights showing what they actually mean for your pocket. In just one page, you get context, clarity, and conversation. As young Ghanaians, understanding how our economy is managed is key to shaping the future we dream of, one that works for us, not against us.” One Page Economics is an initiative by BoE Nathaniel Edum-Fotwe. Come over to nkedumfotwe.com and find out more.

Let God Write Your Story

BOE Sybil Obeng-Sintim has released a new book, “Let God Write Your Story.”

Inspired by her journey, she shares how the CLP “Understanding Self” and “Deepening Faith” sessions opened her eyes to the gifts of writing and speaking she did not know she had.

This book speaks directly to young people who are trying to determine their next step. It is an invitation to let go of fear, trust in God’s timing, and allow Him to shape a story far greater than anything we could imagine.

PARTNERSHIPS AND COLLABORATIONS

Central Leadership Program (CLP) was thrilled to support the Ghana Philanthropy Conference 2025 (GPC'25). Hosted by Star Ghana Foundation, the conference brought together changemakers to unlock the power of local giving. There were insightful talks, case studies, discussions, and masterclasses.

CLP Program Manager, Mrs. Ewurama Bennin, led a masterclass on the topic “Raising the Next Generation of Philanthropists.”

Thank you, Star Ghana Foundation!

LEADERSHIP IN AFRICA FORUM

Fellows led the virtual Leadership in Africa (LIA) Forum from November 17th to 30th, hosting thought-provoking discussions with their peers to explore effective and ethical leadership across the continent.

The sessions allowed Fellows to practice facilitating leadership discourse. The rich conversations were on youth influence, community impact, and the future of African Leadership.

We are grateful to TEMPLE Advisory and to our BoE volunteers for their support to make this a success. Watch some sessions here.
